1987) at the Nanjing University of Traditional Chinese Medicine, one of the foremost teaching institutions in China, where he was later appointed Visiting Professor in 1996. There he gained invaluable knowledge and clinical experience helped by his ability to read Chinese which gave him access to Chinese medicine textbooks, old and modern.

Well known for his rigorous and meticulous style, he combined a thorough knowledge of Chinese medicine with 39-years clinical experience. While firmly rooted in traditional Chinese medicine, Giovanni's ideas were nonetheless innovative. He adapted the theories of Chinese medicine to better address Western conditions and Western diseases not prevalent in ancient China.

Giovanni authored many articles published in professional journals. He notably formulated an innovative and original new theory on the aetiology and pathology of asthma and allergic rhinitis. He also formulated a theory on the aetiology, pathology, diagnosis and treatment of M.E. (Post-Viral Fatigue Syndrome) which, being a new disease, did not exist in the Chinese literature. This article was published in a Chinese medical journal, an honour rarely bestowed on foreign writers in China.

accomplishments as a teacher and writer have made him a major force in this successful movement from one world to another.

Foundations of Chinese Medicine, Practice of Chinese Medicine and Tongue Diagnosis in Chinese Medicine are all outstanding contributions of scholarship and clinical acumen, and this present volume Obstetrics and Gynaecology in Chinese Medicine significantly adds to his accomplishments. Tongue Diagnosis in Chinese Medicine, The Foundations of Chinese Medicine, The Practice of Chinese Medicine, Obstetrics and Gynaecology in Chinese Medicine, Diagnosis in Chinese Medicine, The Channels of Acupuncture, and The Psyche in Chinese Medicine. His books represent important milestones in the development of Chinese Medicine and have widely contributed to its spread in the West. Translated into several languages, they are used as reference texts by the most important academic institutions of Chinese medicine and by practitioners all over the world.

From Dr. Ted Kaptchuk's foreword to Giovanni's book Obstetrics and Gynaecology in Chinese Medicine.

In 1994 he founded Su Wen Herbs, a company which oversees the production of his line of herbal formulas under three lines: The Three Treasures, Women's Treasure, and The Little Treasures. The formulas are based on classical Chinese formulae, adapted by Giovanni to address patterns more commonly seen in clinical practice in the West.

Giovanni was honoured by his inclusion in the brochure celebrating the 50th anniversary of the foundation of the Nanjing University of Chinese Medicine, where he is described as the "Father of Chinese Medicine in Europe".
